Cortado Delivers Mobile Desktop Solution for Google Android

Cortado Workplace cloud desktop solution now available as a free download for Android smartphone users

(Berlin, June 2010) Mobile business expert Cortado now offers its Cortado Workplace, a free cloud desktop solution for mobile applications, for Android, Google's mobile operating system. This Android solution is available now for download at the Android Market or from the Cortado website. Android users can now join over 15,000 smartphone users that rely on Cortado Workplace every day.

Cortado Workplace allows users to remotely store, access, view and manage documents through a smartphone, PC or Mac. The solution provides users with a 1GB online storage space where documents can be saved using a mobile file manager. In addition, documents can be printed to any local or network printer. In order to use the printer, the user simply needs to connect, through Cortado Workplace, with the relevant Wi-Fi network.

"Since its entry into the market, Google's mobile operating system has steadily increased its market share," states Dirk Löwenberg, business director online sales & services at Cortado. "The ever increasing number of Android devices, including the popular Motorola Milestone and Google's Nexus One, as well as the convicing usability of the system, lead analysts to believe that Google Android devices are destined for a large market share. We are sure that aside from its foreseeable success, Android is ideal for enterprise solutions. For Cortado as an innovative provider, it is important that this operating system is compatible with our cloud printing function. At the same time, we have come closer to our goal of offering cross-platform solutions."

Cortado Workplace for Android is available for free in the Android Market as well as at the Cortado website: www.cortado.com/wp-android.

Cortado. A Division of ThinPrint

Cortado combines the entire computing expertise of ThinPrint AG to create mobile communication solutions. The mobile business expert's vision is complete independence from location-bound workplaces and computer-based communication methods. The core of the Cortado solutions is the company's Virtual Desktop Processes technology (VDP). Unlike other providers, Cortado does not transmit the complete desktop to the mobile device. Instead, the BlackBerry, iPhone, Android, etc., smartphone is outfitted with individual PC functions optimized for the small screen display and is thereby transformed into a full-fledged workstation. Cortado's VDP products are available both as in-house solutions and cloud services. The Cortado portfolio is rounded out by individual business apps and solution hosting from well-established third-party providers such as Microsoft Exchange and SharePoint. Security-certified hosting centers in the USA and Germany guarantee highest availability and security of all hosted services and customer data. Thanks to ThinPrint AG's extensive experience as the worldwide leading provider of printing solutions for wide area networks, Cortado has offices in the USA, Germany, Japan, and Australia, as well as a close-knit network of partners around the globe. Cortado acts as a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner, Nokia Forum Pro member, and a top BlackBerry Alliance Select Member. Working closely together with over 20 carriers worldwide, ThinPrint´s mobile division is an established, professional partner and service provider for mobile business users and private users alike.
